

'Love'

Love is yesterday, today, and tomorrow
Love is endless, Love transcends time and space

Love is of self, of children, of family, of friends
Love is of the heart and mind, of faith and hope connected by the soul, the spirit of God

Love is giving and receiving, Love is dreaming
Love is belonging and believing

Love is childlike, Love is mature
Love is having the courage to say 'I'm sorry'

Love is compassion
Love is being with someone in need, Love is knowing someone will be there for you

Love is inarticulate joy and passion
Love is proclaiming 'I am proud of you!'

Love is sacred
Love is looking into someone's eyes and finding a way to forgive

Love is home, Love is a kiss, Love is a gentle hand
Love is a smile, Love is a look, Love is a state of being

Love is exciting, Love is laughter, Love is change
Love is being honest, Love is painful, Love is tears

Love is blind
Love sees beyond the human dimension

Love is having the courage to stand up for your beliefs
Love is knowing when enough is enough

Love is stillness, Love is action
Love is being responsible, Love is meaningful

Love is being an instrument of God and of hope
Love is giving your children a firm foundation
Love is giving them wings

Love is an invisible force, Love is freedom
Love is sharing, Love is perseverance

Love is in memory
Love is in prayer and song

Love moves us beyond survival
Love is being open to living fully

Love gives life
Love gives us the strength to say 'Goodbye' ~ for now

Love is everlasting...
Love is 'evergreen'

Deb Lee Gould, Director
FOD Family Support Group
April 29, 1995